North Africa - 2007

Up to 2 Million African migrants are gathered in North Africa, many of them in Libya, half of them have stated that they plan to illegally enter Europe and travel on to Britain.

European Border Authorities believe that up to 80% of African boat people illegally enter Southern Europe with the intention of going to Britain.

Britain is the target nation of choice of over 1 million potential illegal immigrants from Africa.

Broadsword Editorial

Using Broadsword magazine as one of its tools, British Movement works to build a National Socialist alternative, a 'life-boat' for British white people as Britain continues its long slide into the abyss of multi-racial oblivion.

Prime Minister Gordon Brown continues to set New Labour's Stalinist agenda which will turn the UK into a socialist directed police state where 'Far-Right' political dissent and particularly racial nationalism will be persecuted and prosecuted. Every week sees some small element of erosion of British heritage and tradition, the latest move being the removal of the symbol of Britannia from Britain's coinage - the usual elements having decided that Britannia is a symbol that is 'out-dated' and 'out of touch with modern Britain's diversity'. So Britannia joins all those other elements of British tradition and culture that are seen to 'offend' the 'New Britons'.

The teaching of history in British schools is again being debated by left-wing dominated teaching associations to remove all those aspects of OUR HISTORY that might upset or offend the ethnic minorities currently filling the classrooms of so many inner city schools and colleges.

All the traditional history teaching topics about our kings and queens, the great battles of the past, the accomplishments of our great explorers and inventors, the achievements of the British Empire have had to give way so that 'diversity' is 'celebrated'. Students now have their heads filled with the history of the Slave Trade (and Britain's guilty part in the trade), Civil Rights and the life of Mahatma Ghandi and/or Martin Luther King, not forgetting many months of study into the history of the 'Holocaust' and the supposed evils of Adolf Hitler and the Third Reich.

THE WERWOLF COLUMN

WINNING THE HEARTS AND MINDS OF BRITISH YOUTH TO OUR CAUSE

In the previous issue of Broadsword magazine the Werwolf Column posed the question "Teenage Activists Were Once the Spearhead of BM Street Campaigns -How Do We Re-Generate That Level of Activism in Today's British Youth?"

There has been a good deal of discussion generated by that article and Broadsword has received a number of letters on the subject, added to which the same question was raised at the British Movement AGM in October 2007.

There have been numerous suggestions and much discussion on the subject, but what is required now is positive action and the interest and energy raised by this question now needs to be put into action. Britain's youth are our Nation's future.

Older British Movement members and supporters will remember the days of the late 1970's and early 1980's when BM had a mass presence in some areas of the country with a high level of young White working class youth support and generated a good deal of press coverage and media attention from our high profile marches and demonstrations.

In that period of British Movement history our enemies on the Left and our competitors on the 'Far-Right' often sneered that the bulk of the active British Movement membership was under 25 years of age and because BM's ranks were youth dominated, it would achieve little.

Well, British Movement is still here and many of those who sneered are long gone from Britain's political arena, while many current BM stalwarts began as those youth activists.

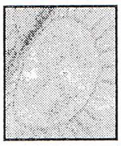
However there can be no denying that the mass youth support that BM enjoyed in those years was BM's 'face on the streets', our youth support provided a mass pool of street activists, highly mobile, eager to travel and always prepared to meet the violent attacks by Leftwing extremists and their immigrant allies with a vigorous and robust physical response. Plus that level of youth support ensured that British Movement literature and propaganda materials were widely distributed, widely read and maintained the BM's high visibility in the public eye. Although their youthful enthusiasm carried BM along on a wave of support, the youngsters frequently lacked financial clout and were easily pressured by family, employers and the police into dropping out of street activity. In addition the lack of maturity and experience meant that there was a lack of people with the skills and knowledge to run political campaigns or provide substantial financial support for long term projects. In fact many of our younger supporters were drawn from the ranks of the unemployed in Thatcher's economy - thus no money and limited in the kind of cash commitment needed to sustain a mass movement. British Movement has followed a different strategy since re-structuring in 1984/85 and now the BM is in the position where we want to regain mass youth support and raise up racial awareness and racial pride in a new generation of White British youngsters so that once again British Movement is the radical voice of youth rebellion and they will cry out -

We Will Have Our Country Back!

MULTI-RACIAL MADNESS

Broadsword takes a look at the stories and incidents drawn from across Britain that best illustrate the depths into which our country has sunk as politicians, Police and the Race Relations industry impose political correctness and racial equality on the White British majority population.

SWASTIKA BAG DESIGN UPSETS POLITICALLY CORRECT



September 2007 - The Zara fashion store chain was forced to withdraw a Hindu style design handbag because it included a swastika in the bag decoration. In a typically Leftist over - reaction, Denis Fernando, the national secretary of Unite Against Fascism issued a press statement, " Fascism and racist symbols are sometimes legitimised in popular culture, this is one of those times. The design is abhorrent."

Nurses Told To Turn Beds To Face Mecca!

West Yorkshire : Nurses employed at Dewsbury District Hospital have been instructed to turn the beds of Muslim patients towards Mecca five times a day so that bed-bound Muslim patients can pray. The Mid Yorkshire NHS Trust claims that this is part of a policy designed to meet the needs of Islamic patients. The Trust has allocated funds to train nurses to "help Muslim patients uphold their faith daily."

BELFAST CHINESE BANK SCAM

Belfast city centre - January 26th 2007 a passing police patrol spotted two Chinese students acting suspiciously at the ATM cash machine near Belfast City Hall.

When they were arrrested the Chinese students, 25 year old Jun Liu and 26 year old Ran Lao were found to have a carrier bag full of cloned bank cards.

Belfast Crown Court jailed the two students for the scam in October 2007. The court was told that Liu and Lao had travelled up to Belfast from Dublin to use the cloned bank cards. The pair claimed to be working the scam on behalf of a mysterious eastern European man they only knew as 'Tony'.

MULTI CULTURALISM IS NOT WORKING

British Movement totally rejects the concept of a multi-racial Britain.

SCHOOL THREATENS MOTHER OVER 'RACIST REMARKS' ABOUT A BLACK DOLL AS POLITICAL CORRECTNESS GOES INTO OVER-DRIVE !

November 2007 - Matlock, Derbyshire.

In a story picked up by both local and national press, the Politically Correct 'Thought Police' reached a new level of multi-racial madness. Mother of three Linda Wood was collected her child from the St Giles Church of England Primary School when she told a toddler in a pushchair not to chew on a black plastic dolly because it was dirty. Unfortunately she was overheard by a fantically politically correct member of staff and was reported to school officials for 'racism'.

The head teacher sent Linda Wood an official letter ordering her to retract her 'racist comments' (about a dirty plastic doll!) otherwise she would be banned from the school grounds and other schools in the district had been "warned" about her - (whatever that might mean)

The head teacher refused to meet Linda Wood to discuss the issue and refused to hear Linda's version of events.

Interestingly there were no black children or adults present or involved.

ANOTHER MODEL CITIZEN !

Joseph Ekaetta arrived in Britain from Nigeria in 2003, aged 15 years and settled in London. The question is how much would this young West African man contribute to Britain, its communities, its economy, its culture and its future?

The Labour Government, the Left-wing 'think-tanks' and pro-immigration and refugee support organisations are always at pains to stress just how much 'these people' can potentially benefit Britain and enrich our country with their diversity.

So just four years later , just four years after he settled in Britain, Joseph Ekaetta is now serving two life sentences; one for rape, amd one for murder.

On November 23rd 2007 at Blackfriar's Crown Court, Joseph Ekaetta was sentenced to an indefinite life sentence for his part in the gang rape of a 14 year old girl, the rape was actually filmed on a mobile phone by one of the gang.

Ekaetta's accomplice in the rape, 20 year old Sebastian King was also given an indefinite life sentence.

Then on December 7th 2007, Joseph Ekaetta stood in the dock at the Old Bailey where he received another life sentence, this time for the murder of 41 year old Stevens Nyembo-Ya-Muteba, a mature mathematics student and father of two, who was waiting to study at Cambridge University.

Joseph Ekaetta knifed Muteba through the heart outside a block of flats because Muteba had dared to ask Ekaetta and his gang to make less noise and stop disturbing their sleep.

So in less than four years Joseph Ekaetta'a contribution to Britain's future was to be party to be an active participant in a gang rape, and the knife murder of a fellow West African immigrant.

Once again Broadsword has to say that if these people had not been allowed to settle here the above crimes would not have been committed.

RICKETS

ANOTHER BENEFIT OF 'DIVERSITY' AS THIS LONG LOST MEDICAL CONDITION RETURNS TO HAUNT BRITAIN.

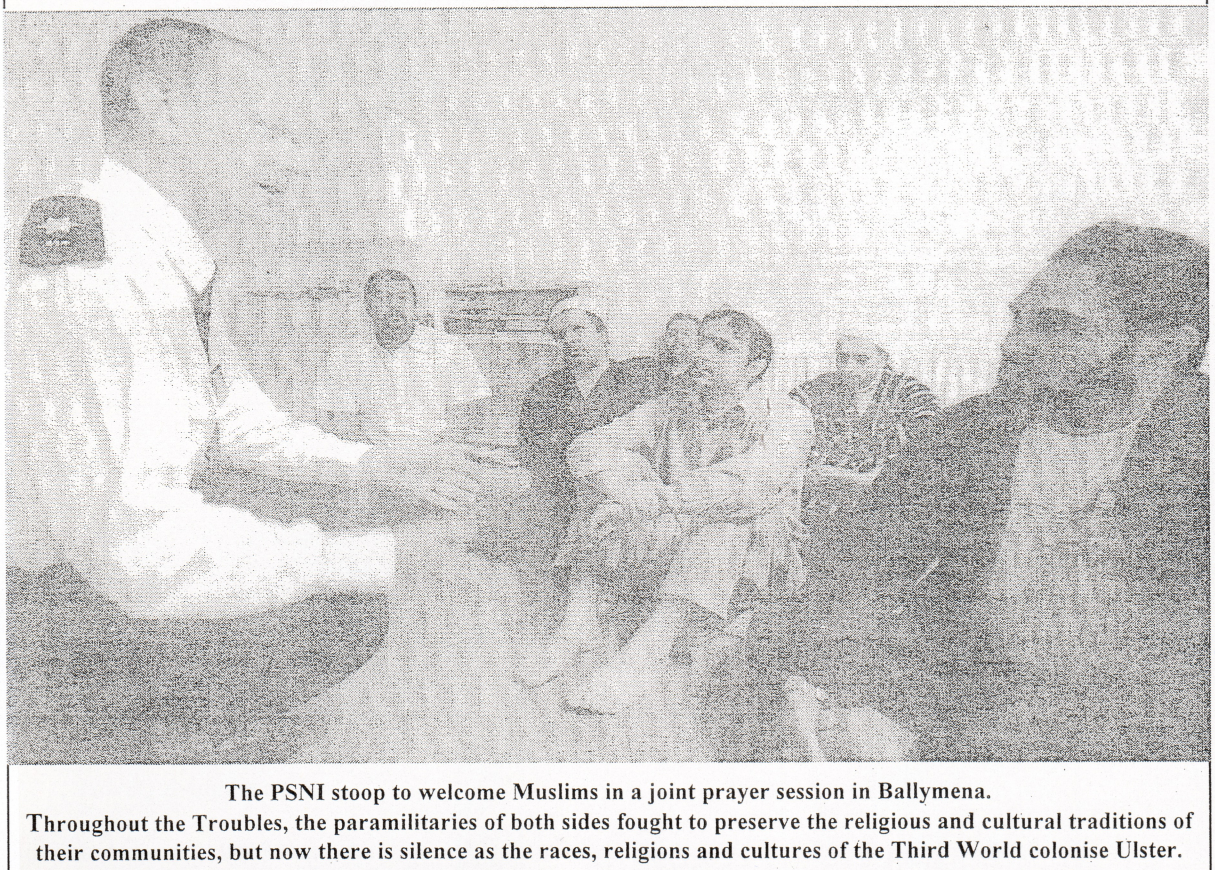
Rickets - the disease of the Victorian slums and the poverty of the Depression and the Hungry 1930's, is back in British hospitals on a scale unseen since the founding of the National Health Service in the 1950's. Rickets is a disabling and disfiguring medical condition almost eradicated from the British health scene until recently when GP clinics and hospitals have announced an upsurge in cases. Not amongst the white British population but amongst immigrants and 'ethnic minority' communities, especially South Asians. Rickets is the by product of vitamin deficiency and poor diet, or more correctly a diet and dietary lifestyle unsuited to life in Britain and the British environment. Another imported drain on NHS resources.

MULTI- RACIAL MADNESS GAINS GROUND IN ULSTER

Evidence of increasing political correctness and the drive to create a multi-racial Ulster was taken a step further in September 2007 when the PSNI (Police Service Northern Ireland) which is itself a creation of political correctness and Left-wing agenda, shared a prayer meeting with Muslims in Ballymena.

In a clearly politically motivated move, PSNI Superintendant Kyle stated that the North-East of the Province is now recognised as being "truly cosmopolitan" - (Superintendant Kyle's own words)

Just who recognises the region as being cosmopolitan is not clear but Broadsword has to ask the PSNI just when the people of Ballymena, Coleraine, Ballymoney, Moyle and Larne were asked about their region of Ulster becoming "truly cosmopolitan". It seems that no sooner had the dust settled on 'the Troubles' than the powers behind multi-culturalism have gone into overdrive in their determination to bring Northern Ireland into line with the rest of the UK by creating a multi-racial melting-pot, where the White British will eventually be ousted by a non-White population majority.



The PSNI stoop to welcome Muslims in a joint prayer session in Ballymena.
Throughout the Troubles, the paramilitaries of both sides fought to preserve the religious and cultural traditions of their communities, but now there is silence as the races, religions and cultures of the Third World colonise Ulster.

SPAIN

As previously reported in Broadsword Issue numbers 31 and Issue 32, the Left-wing Spanish Government of Prime Minister Jose Luis Rodriguez Zapatero, is passing new laws to prevent future Francoist and Falangist gatherings at the basilica in the Valley of the Fallen in the Guadarrama mountains near Madrid. November 18th 2007 saw angry Spanish Nationalists, Falangists and Franco supporters gather in the Valley of the Fallen to honour the memory of General Franco at his tomb and the tomb of Jose Antonio de Valera, as well as a noisy pro-Franco demonstration in Oriente Square in Madrid. The mood is one of defiance against the Socialist inspired new law, 'The Law of Historical Memory' which not only seeks to outlaw the Nationalist gatherings but is also removing Franco era emblems from public buildings, and re-naming any streets and public places which carry Falangist or Francoist names. The Spanish Left is taking its revenge for losing the Spanish Civil War by these measures, 68 years after General Franco and the Spanish Nationalist victory in 1939.

Defiant Spanish Nationalists have vowed to ignore the new legislation and continue their rallies every November. In Oriente Square on November 18th, the crowds sang the Spanish Nationalist anthem "Cara al Sol" (Faces to the Sun) with all the old enthusiasm and raised their right arms in lasting salute.

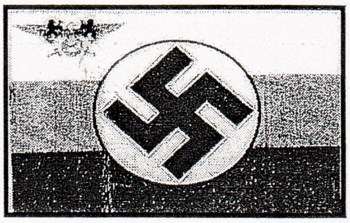
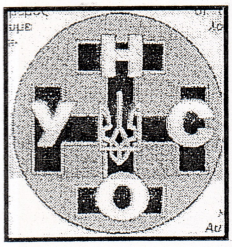
RUSSIA



The Russian Federation now has a confusing array of racial-Nationalist, National Socialist, fascist and regional nationalist organisations and political parties, including a network of skinhead and nationalist youth groups and gangs affiliated to an assortment of political factions as well organisations connected to the Blood and Honour music network. This confusing mass of organisations and parties range in size from a few dozen supporters to structured movements with thousands of card holding members. Equally confusing is the range of flags, badges and other insignia behind with which these organisations isentify themselves. Since the collapse of Communism and the iron grip of the old USSR, the power of nationalism and re-discovered racial identity has brought a powerful new order to Russian political life. One Russian National Socialist activist recently gave an interview in which he stated his comradeship with racial nationalists across Europe; " Russia is for Russians, we are all each unique in our own Aryan-ness, and should be proud of it, and more importantly, we should never give up on our Motherland or Fatherland without a fight. Our Russia is a perfect example, if our forefathers gave up, then this would not be Russia right now. White Russians would eventually win over the Jew run communist stranglehold, but to many people around the world, especially America, Russia is believed to be a weak nation. To those sceptics and haters of Mother Russia, I say this, we are still a Super Power and we are the largest populated White nation on the face of this planet.... let us all, Russian, both Slavic and Nordic together with Americans, Britons, Germans, Scandanavians, French, Canadians, Austrians, Swiss, our sister land Ukranians, Czechs, Slovaks, Serbs, Slovenians, Belgians, Irish, and other Aryan nations come together in one united fight to battle the international Jew."



UKRAINE

Racial Nationalism is back on the streets of the Ukraine. In the wake of the 'Orange Revolution' the spirit of Ukrainian nationalism is back in force - the traditional emblem of the 'Trident of Vladimir ' is back !

GREECE

Once again the streets of Athens see the banners and marching columns of the Hellenic Nationalists and National Socialists of the Golden Dawn. Disciplined and well organised, the Golden Dawn has overcome the problems of state oppression and Left-Wing violence it faced across the latter part of 2006 and the first half of 2007, to come out fighting again.

FACTS AND FIGURES
THE HIDDEN FACE OF THE LABOUR PARTY
SECRET FUNDING AND CASH DEALS

2007 - The Year That The Labour Party's Secret Funds Were Finally Revealed.

The Labour Party might have wriggled out of the legal problems which surfaced around the 'Cash for Honours' scandal and the dubious funding activities of former Prime Minister Tony Blair's close aid and wealthy Labour Party supporter Lord Levy, but under the new regime of dour Scot Prime Minister Gordon Brown and new level of dubious cash donations and Labour Party finances has come to light. Gordon Brown's chief fundraiser Jon Mendelsohn has replaced Lord Levy as Labour's 'money man', but within just 3 months in post Mr Mendelsohn is in trouble. Secret Labour Party donor David Abrahams was outed in November 2007 as having channelled at least £650,000 to the Labour Party through a series of private individuals in order to conceal the true source of the donations. David Abrahams is a Newcastle based Jewish businessman, who sometimes operates in the name David Martin (why ?) and is the son of the late Bennie Abrahams, a Labour Party member and former Lord Mayor of Newcastle (1981 -1982). Reputedly Mr Abrahams (Martin ?) has a property empire in North East England centred around Newcastle and a development estate in Durham. It appears that Mr Abrahams also made cash donations to key Labour figures during their campaigns to become deputy leader of the Labour Party., Harriet Harman gained a £5,000 donation 'via a proxy' and Peter Hain may also have received £5,000 from an Abrahams contact.

* As Broadsword prepares to go to print there is news that the Labour Government's Work and Pensions Secretary Peter Hain has failed to declare donations of over £100,000 to his failed bid to be elected deputy leader of the Labour Party.

Labour Friends of Israel and Trade Union Friends of Israel
these two organisations repeatedly crop up in revelations about Labour Party funding.
Lord Levy was involved in Labour Friends of Israel. Jon Mendelsohn was an official in Labour Friends of Israel.
David Abrahams has been involved with both Labour Friends of Israel and Trade Union Friends of Israel.

IS THIS CORRUPTION?
How Honest Is The Labour Government?

This is IMRAND KHAND who secretly donated £300,000 to the Labour Party via an immigrant founded Labour front organisation called 'The Muslim Friends for Labour'.

Based in Scotland the Asian businessman Imrand Khand gave Labour £300,000.

The Asian Glasgow MP Mohammad Sarwar gave £4000, another Asian businessman Maq Rasul gave £6,000.

Muslim Friends for Labour also gave £5,000 to Labour MP Harriet Harman in her campaign for deputy leader of the Labour Party.

Officially the Labour party in Scotland stated that it had only received £312,000 from Muslim Friends for Labour.

Sordid Insight Into The Sex And Drugs Lifestyle of 'Gay' BBC Presenter

If you have ever wondered why homosexuals, and all aspects of homosexuality are given such positive treatment by the BBC and other TV and Radio media just consider how many homosexuals there are working in the media at all levels, who will champion the causes of homosexuals, lesbians, bi-sexuals and assorted sexual oddities. The so-called 'Gay Scene' is in reality a cess-pit of sexual hedonism where the use of drugs to 'enhance' the sexual experiences is an accepted part of 'Scene Gay Life style'. Using drugs like cocaine and stimulants like amyl nitrile (poppers) as a recreational part of their sexual antics and group sex party games is accepted as 'normal' in Gay Clubs and at homosexual orgies. Even though Class 'A' drugs are illegal.

 (Many Broadsword readers might comment that you would need to be out of your head on drugs to indulge in some of the bizarre and un-natural sexual acts that homosexuals involve themselves in).

In January 2008 an Old Bailey jury found itself listening to the reality of 'Gay Sex and Drugs' when a BBC radio presenter went on trial for allegedly drugging and raping a 26 year old man he met at a New Year party.

BBC presenter Nigel Wrench, aged 47 who presents and reports on BBC Radio 5 Live and Radio 4 was accused of drugging a 26 year old man by giving him a glass of champagne which was laced with Temazepam, a prescription only sedative. The pair met at a New Year party in South London on December 31st 2006. At the party where both men admitted snorting lines of cocaine, Wrench invited the 26 year old "back to his place". After drinking the drugged champagne, the victim passed out, waking up to find himself being punched about the head and being forced to perform oral sex on the older man, Nigel Wrench, who made it clear that rough sex was what he wanted - the victim had bruises and bite marks over his body.

Not surprisingly the defence barrister, representing Wrench told the jury that, they might have found some of what they heard in evidence, "thoroughly unpleasant" and "deeply unattractive" but asked them to put aside their natural feelings of repugnance at what they were hearing. Despite what the liberals and leftist apologists for homosexuals might like to pretend, the truth is that ordinary people do not like the idea of the sexual activities that 'Gays' get up to - especially where drugs are involved. Wrench had not denied the use of cocaine or the rough sex, but claimed it was 'consensual'.

An interesting admission in court was that both Wrench and his alleged victim were HIV positive. Another surprising feature of the trial was the appreance of a character witness for Nigel Wrench, none other than Raymond Collins, assistant general secretary of the trade union Unite (T&G section) who spoke up for Wrench as one of his oldest friends.

Broadsword wonders what trade unionists in Unite think about their assistant general secretary standing up for someone who openly admits using Class 'A' drugs recreationally and likes to indulge in homosexual 'rough sex'.

So far there has been no formal statement from the BBC about Nigel Wrench and his lifestyle or whether such a person should be employed by the BBC, given his unacceptable lifestyle.

With people like Nigel Wrench working at the BBC it is little wonder that homosexuality equality is positively reported.

COURT REFUSES TO DEPORT AFRICAN SEX OFFENDER BACK TO SIERRA LEONE BECAUSE DEPORTATION WILL 'BREACH HIS HUMAN RIGHTS'.

October 2007 - The Asylum and Immigration Tribunal has ruled that serial sex offender Mohammed Kendeh cannot be deported back to Sierra Leone because it would breach his human rights. Mr Justice Hodge, President of the Asylum & Immigration Tribunal upheld the 20 year old West African's right to remain in Britain under Article 8 of the Human Rights Act.

Mohammed Kendeh was living in Peckham, South London ever since arriving from Sierra Leone when he was a child. Kendeh has confessed to being guilty of sexually and indecently assaulting 11 different women and was classified by the Home Office as being a high risk offender likely to re-offend. The Home Office recommended deportation back to Sierra Leone but was over ruled by the Asylum & Immigration Tribunal.

This was despite Kendeh's record over the past five years of convictions for robbery, burglary, drug offences, arson and the sex attacks. Kendeh was first sent to prison when he was aged 15 and has been an habitual criminal and sex offender across the South London area. The Tribunal judge Mr Justice Hodge (husband of the Labour MP Margaret Hodge) declared that Mohammed Kendeh had 'a right to a family life' under Article 8 of the Human Rights Act and could not be deported because he had few relatives in Africa.

London Mayor Ken Livingstone Spends £740,000 Of Tax-Payers Money On A Trip To India

London Mayor 'Red' Ken Livingstone pose for photographs at the oldest mosque in Delhi. Why did Livingstone find it necessary to dress up like an Indian grandee? His week long trip cost around £740,000 including £50,000 for flights and accomodation for Livingstone's party of 20 aides and an incredible 80 so-called 'ambassadors'. Although some of the business delegates in his party would be paying their own fares and bills, the mayoral party included entertainers and a 'performance poet' were being paid for by London tax-payers. he London Mayor claimed that the trip would pay for itself because it would bring jobs to London, putting a typical New Labour spin on the trip, Livingstone claimed that, " You only have to bring six jobs to London to recover the cost of this trip. I think it will bring several thousand." But perhaps the real purpose of the trip was ideological for Left-Wing Livingstone, as he laid an official wreath at the memorial to Mahatma Gandi. He also let slip the comment that " action was needed to tackle the sheer hassle that Indians experienced obtaining UK visas and the long immigration queues they faced at Heathrow".
No doubt Red Ken had an eye on winning more support amongst Indians in Tower Hamlets, and other 'colonised' districts.

2007 WAS THE YEAR OF GANG WARFARE IN LONDON

As Broadsword goes to press there has been another teenage murder amongst the immigrant/ethnic minority districts in London. There have been dozens of gang related shootings and stabbings across London in 2007, with almost 30 victims aged under 20 years, some under 16 years of age.
To anyone living outside the M25, there is the idea that London is one big city, but these days it is a collection of districts, boroughs and minority communities, and in particular ethnic gang territories. In some heavily non-white districts, these gang territories are nor just based on nationality (such as Somali) but also on tribe, dialect and caste.
December 15th 2007 - David Nowak aged 16 was stabbed to death in a mass gang fight outside a party on the Somerford Grove estate in Stoke Newington. David Nowak was mixed race - part Turkish - known locally by his 'street name' of 'TK' or 'Turk'.
Police press reports believed that there was a clash between two gangs, the so-called 'DNA Boys' and the 'Holly Street Boys'. It is alleged that the victim David Nowak was involved with the Stoke Newington street gang the 'DNA Boys'. Another teenage victim of multi-racial diversity and culture.

'NO - GO' AREAS FOR WHITES IN THE EAST END

The Bishop of Rochester said that there were 'no-go' areas for Whites in some Muslim immigrant dominated areas of Britain - Prime Minister Gordon Brown publicly stated that Britain did not have any 'no-go' areas. But the reality is very different. On April 6th 2006 a group of white residents from the Clichy Estate in Stepney were leaving a pub when they were attacked by an armed Asian gang at least 30 strong. The Asians were shouting racial insults at the whites as they set about 33 years old John Payne, who was struck on the head with an axe before being beaten and kicked. Mr Payne needed emergency brain surgery to remove skull fragments which left him permanently disabled with epilepsy and head trauma injuries. A police spokesman told the media that the "Bangladeshi dominated estate in the East End is a no-go area for non-residents"
*As Broadsword goes to print three Asian men from Stepney have been convicted at the Old Bailey for attempted murder. Mamoon Hussain, 20, Delwar Hussain 21, and Sodrul Islam 23 were all sentenced to 18 years in prison each for their part in the attack on John Payne.

GHETTO-CULTURE
Guns & Gangs
Britain's Cities Taken Over By Black 'Urban Culture'

Urban Culture, Urban Music, Urban Fashion, Street Culture,

The sound-bite labels beloved of the liberal and leftist media hide the reality of the ghetto-culture which has taken over the streets and neighbourhoods of London and Britain's larger cities and metropolitan centres.

Riding on the back of mass non-white immigration and the creation of multi-cultural districts in Britain's urban centres, the native British working-class culture and social networks have been replaced by a black focussed street culture based around the ghetto lifestyles of Los Angeles, Harlem and San Francisco in the USA; Jamaica, Brazil and the townships of South Africa. Fuelled by musical and fashion influences in American black music, the rootless ethically mixed youth of the British inner cities are drawn towards the street gangs and moral codes of the dominant 'gangsta' ghetto culture.

The minority white youngsters trapped into growing up in such 'ethnic diversity', adopt the music, dress styles and even the dialects and language patterns of the Afro-Asian 'urban culture' they encounter on a daily basis.

Often the only white face in a classroom, these isolated young British children adopt the speech and lifestyles of their non-white peers as a survival stategy.

Knowing nothing of white working-class culture outside the family home these kids will speak with a broken 'West Indian patois' sprinkling their speech with street slang borrowed from black 'Hip Hop' and 'Gangsta Rap' music and films.

Currently the British national news media is becoming obsessed with the gang culture which is dominating the multi-racial housing estates and mean streets of the British urban centres.

These newspaper stories are generated by the rash of shootings and stabbings which are claiming the lives of many non-white teenagers. Some years ago the media was quick to glamorise the gold, sex and drugs lifestyles of the 'Yardies' and then the 'Rap artists and Gangstas' of the black music scene. Now that the gangs have evolved to encompass all elements and age groups of the multi-racial neighbourhoods and the natural progression into violence and killing has taken over, the Media have been equally quick in dropping the glamour and are standing back in their usual hypocritical 'Shock, Horror' stance of reporting on the youth gang killings and social break down on the streets. As has become the norm in such cases, the prematurely deceased black youngsters are always portrayed as honest, studious, young individuals, (always studying to be a doctor or lawyer or architect) and all their fanily swear that they had "nothing to do with gangs or drugs or guns". Then of course the carefully posed photographs of the victim as a sweetly smiling black schoolchild, very rarely shown as they were when they were killed, at 3am in the morning, outside a club, wearing a 'hoodie' or similar street clothes.

The media never asks why this 'innocent' youth was outside a club in that neighbourhood at that hour, nor questions the dubious 'Rap songs' that the victim was filmed making nor the equally dubious 'street-names' they went by such as 'Killa MC' or 'Venomous'.

The reality is that in those streets where Ghetto culture is the reality, where 'Urban culture' is the norm, the values and morality of the White British does not exist. These people live by their own rules, their own codes and their own values.

This is why so many killings are about 'respect' - not the kind of respect understood by White working-class British people, but a value born out of the distorted lifestyles of the 'Government Yards' of Trenchtown, Jamaica and the Housing Projects of L.A.

Pity then the handfuls of displaced white teenagers going to school in this environment, growing up exposed to this culture, knowing nothing else but black music, ethnic minority street speech, alien foods and fashions, totally disconnected from their British roots and culture.

What hope is there for them?

THE JENA 6

RACE & RACIAL POLITICS IN THE USA

Broadsword looks at the race story which is setting the political agenda in the Southern States of the USA.

The 'Jena 6' story began at a high school in Jena, Louisiana in September 2006 .

On Jena High School campus there is a large shade tree under which white high school students traditionally sit during their breaks, an unwritten rule in the school is that only white students sit in the shade of that particular tree. Last year, emboldened by a talk on civil rights and racial equality, a group of six black students decided to deliberately challenge the tradition of the shade tree and occupied the seating area before any white students could take their usual seats. It was this provocative act that sparked off a chain of events which have become the story of the 'Jena 6'.

On the morning after the black student's occupation of the seats under the shade tree, students arrived at Jena High School to find six rope nooses hanging from the branches of the shade tree. There was no mistaking the symbolism of the nooses which harked back to the 'Old South' and the tactics of the Ku Klux Klan.

The Jena High School authorities regarded the nooses as a student prank (in bad taste) and duly disciplined a group of white students for putting up the ropes.

However the high school's black students saw the situation differently and were stirred up into a state of anger and indignation by assorted press statements by radical black and civil rights campaigners.

The outcome was that in December 2006, six black high school football players decided to take the punishment of white students into their own hands and violently attacked a white student, 18 year old Justin Barkley, ambushing him, beating him unconcious, and leaving him for dead. Justin Barkley was hospitalised with serious head injuries. The black gang who attacked Justin Barkley were quickly identified and arrested, and were being charged with attempted murder. The six attackers were Mychal Bell, Robert Bailey, Carwin Jones, Bryant Purvis, Theo Shaw, and Jessie Ray Beard.

The brutal beating of Justin Barkley was quickly overlooked by an upsurge in black civil rights action in defence of the so-called 'Jena 6'.

A number of civil rights and equality campaigners were quick to claim that the 'Jena 6' were the victims, not Justin Barkley. This ignored that fact that the 'Jena 6' were all known locally as members of a street gang and Mychal Bell had a bad disciplinary record at the high school and had previously taken part in an arson attack on the school. The black civil rights organisation, the NAACP brought in a series of major black figures in to campaign on behalf of the 'Jena 6'.

Individuals known internationally arrived to demand 'justice' for the accussed black students; Al Sharpton, Jesse Jackson and Martin Luther King III, all spoke out on their behalf. The beating of Justin Barkley was pushed into the back ground.

Within months a mass demonstration by assorted civil rights groups flooded the small town of Jena with thousands of black radicals and 'community activists'.

The case received nation wide coverage and the white backlash began, the ANSWP pushed the loudest and most public response against the black protest groups.

Both Al Sharpton and Jesse Jackson reacted badly to the ANSWP's internet and telephone campaigns against the 'Jena 6'. they appealed to Congress and President George Bush to prosecute the ANSWP and close down their operations.

Amazingly the US law enforcement organisations, including the FBI refused to act, which probably says more about their attitudes towards Sharpton and Jackson rather than any regard for the political rights of the ANSWP.

Despite the civil rights interference, the court cases against the 'Jena 6' began in June 2007, Mychal Bell, 17, was convicted of 2nd degree battery, later ordered to be retried as a juvenile, pleading guilty to battery in December 2007.

The 'Jena 6' cases are still running on.

GEORGE LINCOLN ROCKWELL
Authorized & unabridged
THIS TIME THE WORLD!

Originally planned for Broadsword issue 33 - this article was held over and includes contributions from Colin Jordan who collaborated with George Lincoln Rockwell in the drafting of the 'Cotswold Agreement' in 1962 and the creation of the WUNS World Union of National Socialists .
Broadsword remembers Commander George Lincoln Rockwell.

45 years ago, in the summer of 1962, I stood with comrades at Shannon Airport in Ireland waiting to welcome an American visitor to a pan-Aryan camp of Britain's then National Socialist Movement to be held in the countryside area called 'The Cotswolds' and thereby to discuss the creation of a pan-Aryan structure for co-operation which took shape as the World Union of National Socialists. That visitor was to become one of the greatest influences in my political life as in the political lives of so many others all over the world.

The plane landed. Other people came down the steps. At last, at the end of the line, just when we were about to despair of his arrival, the unmistakable, lofty figure of Lincoln Rockwell appeared to our joyful relief. What a moment that was for us as we thereupon bundled him into our car amid greetings and shot off swiftly in case of surveillance and pursuit!

We only hand him for a few precious days, evading police and immigration authorities who were seeking him all over the place on many false trails. Yet in that tiny time we came to know a magnetically inspiring, luminously dedicated, exuberantly jovial man who could continually see and heartily enjoy the funny side of our greivous struggle within the enormity of the racial and social peril confronting us.

The supreme merit of the man I am so proud to call Comrade was not, I venture to declare, in the field of ideological development and exposition, but in that of depictive and evoacative deeds, which is fully as important in the nexus of thought and action which is the flow of life's endeavour. Ideological development and exposition has come from the hand of his everlastingly loyal comrade, Commander Matt Koehl, who has thereby magnificently served Commander Rockwell's memory.

Lincoln Rockwell's summarising achievement, his supreme contribution to our cause, was to enter a political world reverberating with universal almost total vilification of Adolf Hitler - the greatest champion the Aryan peoples have ever had - as instead the greatest monster from hell the world has ever seen, and with eclipsing defiance to explode and shatter this monstrous travesty with the thunderous and chastening impact of the message 'Hitler was right!' - a thunderclap of countercry which I brought forth in those days. Only in the spirit of these words, the spirit of Lincoln Rockwell, herald of the National Socialist comeback, can the colossal denigration by the prevailing forces of worldwide Aryan ruination be withstood and overturned.

The spirit of this wonderful man was displayed to a nicety on the morning he was deported from England after his ban-beating entry and his spectacular evasion of capture had been frontpage news for days, and he was already on his way to Scotland Yard to surrender and go home, his mission already accomplished and completed. Climbing the steps into the plane, he turned and with a salute exclaimed 'I'll be back!'

An assassin's cowardly bullet prevented him from returning, taking from us this mighty fighter in his prime, but by his electrifying staging of his views he succeeded in breaking the intended no-sound barrier or 'silent treatment', thrusting himself and his cause into the foreground of public attention, thereby winning a comeback for the spirit and image of Adolf Hitler.

The greatness of Lincoln Rockwell thus lay in the lead he gave in confronting head-on the great lie against the Aryan saviour Adolf Hitler and his creed of Aryan salvation with the liberating voice of a great communicator, the superb skill of the great simplifier, and a golden flair for persuasion by dramatisation, bringing issues to attention with sudden clarity and compelling force.

So that is why you should make Lincoln Rockwell a mighty memory in your life as he is in mine.

THE ANGLO-SAXONS - Part 3

ANGLO-SAXON ENGLAND

The Great Kings of the House of Wessex

Alfred The Great & Athelstan

The Victorian memorial statue to King Alfred the Great in Winchester

The West Saxon royal house of Wessex saw the reign of two great warrior kings, Alfred the Great and his grandson Athelstan.

Alfred was born at Wantage in Berkshire in 849 AD, he was the son of King Aethelwulf, a succesful ruler of the West Saxons. From an early age Alfred was groomed for kingship, just four years old he was sent by his father to Rome for an audience with the Pope, the establishment of the Christian church in Saxon England enjoyed royal patronage. At the death of his father, Alfred's brother Aethlred was crowned king, just in time to see the greatest threat to Saxon rule as the first great Viking raids began in England.

Age 20, Prince Alfred married Princess Ealhswith, a Mercian noblewoman and Alfred was named as his brother's heir. In the winter of 870, the Vikings (Danes) began their attacks on the kingdom of Wessex. Already firmly established in eastern and northern England, the Danes had a base at Reading and on January 8th, 870 AD they launched a major incursion of Wessex along the Great Ridgeway of the Berkshire Downs.

The West Saxon army mobilised to confront the Danish army, King Aethelred and Prince Alfred mustered their men at Ashdown near the landmark of the Uffington White Horse.

The West Saxons struck first, Alfred led a ferocious charge into the Danish ranks, a terrific battle saw the Saxons victorious and the Danes retreated back to their base at Reading, leaving behind amongst their dead, a dead Danish king and at least 5 dead chieftains. But the Saxons triumph was shortlived, in the following months, a series of battles shattered the West Saxons, the sudden death of King Aethelred left Alfred to be crowned king of a failing dynasty at the age of 21. His reign did not get off to a good start, he was defeated in battle at Wilton, and forced to pay 'Danegeld' to bribe the Danes to stop attacking Wessex. This only provided a temporary lull, the bribed Danes marched north-west to attack Mercia. By 874 Mercia had fallen to the Danes and once again they looked towards Wessex.

Three Danish kings, Guthrum, Anwend and Oscetel set up camp at Cambridge opening their campaign against Wessex in the Spring of 876. Guthrum led his army in a series of raids, outflanking Alfred , occupying Wareham in Dorset and marching on to take Exeter. Alfred could only call a truce and pay Guthrum Danegeld to leave. The Danes moved north to Gloucester leaving Alfred an uneasy peace in the Winter of 877.

It did not last, Guthrum was not a Christian and as Alfred stood his army down for Christmas, Guthrum launched a surprise attack capturing theWest Saxon royal hall at Chippenham, seizing Alfred's food stores, splitting the Wessex forces, chasing Alfred into hiding in the marshlands of Athelney in West Somerset. It was during this period of defeat and disaster that the legend of "King Alfred and the Burned Cakes" was born. Alfred used his time to regroup his nobles, bringing them together on Whit Sunday 878 in an alliance of the Saxons of Dorset, Wiltshire, Hampshire and Somerset. Ready for war Alfred led his army out onto Salisbury Plain. "He attacked the whole pagan army fighting ferociously in dense order, and by divine will eventually won the victory, made great slaughter."

> ....then the band of bold men was quickly made ready, men brave in battle......warriors marched out, bore banners of victory .....heroes beneath their helmets at the break of dawn; the shields rang, resounded loudly...

Our Ancestors

Alfred the Great & Athelstan

Kings of the West-Saxons - Kings of the English

Alfred fought a ferocious battle at Edington and drove the Danes back to Chippenham. After 3 weeks of fierce fighting Alfred had chased the Danes out of Wessex. After this decisive victory the Danes were prepared to negotiate, Alfred imposed his peace terms, forcing Guthrum and his chieftains to be baptised as Christians. The peace terms recognised the Danish/Norse presence in England, the treaty of 886 established the 'Danelaw' - a line from the Thames to the Wye ruled that all land north of the line was 'Danelaw' subject to Viking laws and ruled by their kings.

Alfred used the peace to re-build Wessex and to extend his rule across Southern England. He began to build new towns and fortified centres, for the first time town planning with formal streets and stone built halls. These towns were called 'burhs', designed by Alfred as urban centres for trade and war. In 886, Alfred had secured London, Alfred rebuilt London and its waterfront, using the ports for the navy he was creating. Alfred maintained his court at Winchester, sponsoring education and literature, translating books from Latin into Anglo-Saxon.The Old Minster at Winchester became a centre for Anglo-Saxon learning. In later centuries Alfred was remembered as the king “who saved the essential Englishness of our culture and language.”

Alfred died in 899, the saviour of the house of Wessex and Anglo-Saxon England. He was succeeded by his son Edward.

ATHELSTAN

Born in 895, eldest son of Edward, his famous grandfather Alfred gave him a birth-gift of a Saxon sword and belt, and a purple royal cloak, the symbols of Saxon kingship. Athelstan was raised in the Mercian monastary school at Worcester away from the West Saxon capital at Winchester. There were plots against him, when his father died in July 924, the crown was given to his half-brother Aelfweord - but his reign lasted only 16 days, his death was probably not an accident. Athelstan narrowly escaped being murdered by his brother Edwin.

In 925, aged 30, Athelstan was finally crowned King of Wessex. He would be a traditional Saxon warrior king, his war-lords looked to him to finish the work of his grandfather Alfred the Great and Athelstan did not disappoint them. In 927 he launched his great war of conquest, using the death of King Sihtric of Jorvik (York) as the excuse to march his armies North. He quickly defeated Guthfrith and Anlaf, the sons of Sihtric, captured York and became the first southern king to rule York. He quickly followed this victory by defeating Earl Ealdulfing, captured Bamburgh and set a puppet king over Northumbria. In quick succession Athelstan gained the submission of the northern kings; Donald King of the Strathclyde Welsh, Owain King of Cumbria, Constantine, King of the Scots. In a summer of rapid warfare Athelstan had created a new northern border for the southern Saxons and had subdued the Danelaw. He followed this with a march south-west, attacking the Kingdom of the North Welsh. In a swift campaign he defeated Hywel Dda and Idwal Foel of Gwynedd. At the end of a brutal campaign the five kings of the North Welsh came to Hereford and submitted to Athelstan's rule as the 'Great King'.

Having conquered his enemies in the North and the West, Athelstan marched south-west to subdue the 'West-Welsh' the Celts of Cornwall. He was victorious again, setting the new West Saxon border on the river Tamar, rebuilding the city of Exeter, building a new minster in Exeter and appointing a bishop. By 932 AD, Athelstan was being hailed as 'Emperor of the World of Britain' “King Athelstan lives, glorious through his deeds.”

In 934 Constantine of the Scots broke his treaty, Athelstan marched North at the head of an army drawn from all across England and included his Welsh kings , fought a fierce campaign deep into Cumbria, Scotland and Pictland. He devastated his opponents forces and his victory confirmed his status as 'Emperor of the British'.

Not only a warrior but also a ruler, Athelstan re-structured England politically and set down a new series of law-codes. He rebuilt towns and created new settlements and more 'burhs'. His peace did not last, in 937 a 'grand alliance' of Scots, Welsh, Dublin Vikings, Northumbrians, Mercians and East Angles rose against Althelstan, supported by a fleet of ships. Landing on the Humber, they took York and consolidated their hold on Northumbria. before Athelstan could counter attack. The battle was savage and legendary, the victory at Brunanburgh was his greatest triumph and saw the death in battle of five enemy kings. Athelstan was now beyond challenge and his name 'instilled terror into all enemies”.

But just two years later, in October 939 Athelstan died of a 'sickness' an unlikely and peaceful end to a great conqueror and warrior king.

Athelstan................First king of the English to subdue all the nations within Britain under his arms, though none of his successors extended the boundaries of the empire further than he did. The Altitonantis charter 964 AD.

Blood & Biology
The Ideological Roots of 21st Century National Socialism

The Ideological Roots of Modern National Socialism Are to be Found in the Principles and Theories Laid Down in the Germanic-SS in the 1940's.
The Germanic-SS Developed the Concept of a Pan-European National Socialist Movement Which Embraced All European Nations. Those Ideals Spread Beyond 1945 and Evolved Into the Form of National Socialism Advocated by British Movement Today.

Many Things

Many things can be forgiven in this world, so we teach the SS man, but one thing can never be forgiven: disloyalty. He who breaks loyalty, excludes himself from our society.

This is so, because loyalty is a function of the heart, not of the head. The head may err, and this is sometimes damaging, but it is never beyond repair. The heart, on the other hand, is required to always beat the same rhythm, and when it stops, a man dies in the same way that a people dies - when it breaks loyalty.

We are speaking here of loyalty of every kind: loyalty to the Fuhrer and therefore to the German and Germanic people, and to their wisdom and their ways; loyalty to the blood, hence to our ancestors, uncles, and to our clan or ethnicity; loyalty to our comrades; and finally loyalty to the unchanging laws of good breeding, of cleanliness and chivalry.

A man sins against loyalty and honour not only then when he passively permits his own or the SS honour to be compromised, but above all then, when he fails to respect the honour of others, when he derides things that others hold sacred, or when he unmanfully and indecently fails to come to the defence of the weak, the helpless and those not present to defend themselves.

- the Reichsfuhrer -SS . 1941.

Racial Loyalty and the Threat of Race Mixing

The greatest threat to the blood and biology of our race and nation is race-mixing, the erosion of our bloodlines through the inter-breeding with non-whites, something that the multi-racialists are desperate to encourage and promote at every opportunity. The multi-racialists believe that if the numbers of racially mixed children can outstrip the birthrate of native White British and other White European children then the future will be 'Coffee coloured' and the Whites will eventually die out as a race. Their argument is that racists and racism will become an idea of the past because there will be no longer any white people left to be 'racist'. So at every opportunity mixed race couples are held up as symbols of the future and mixed race children are prominent in all publications, advertising and TV programmes. Racial loyalty is seen as a threat to the multi-racial future and their propaganda seeks to undermine racial loyalty whenever it can. A recent statement by the black entertainer Lenny Henry sums up the multi-racialists position,

"In the real world, there's more diversity, we're more multi-cultural, there are mixed marriages, mixed relationships, mixed race kids running all over the place. It's a fact of life. We are a multi-cultural, multi-ethnic society and there is an area of that society that is slightly hoping it's not true. But it is true and they've got to catch up."

What Lenny Henry really means is that those White British who reject a multi-racial society have to accept his pipe-dream or else!

His words are couched in typical Leftist/liberal language, those who reject multi-racialism are presented as a minority who are out of touch with modern Britain and modern thinking. Those who are loyal to their race and nation are presented as a small percentage who are living in the past, Henry presents the mixed race population as the face of the future in Britain.

This multi-racialist vision conveniently ignores the fact that despite all their poisonous efforts Britain is still a country with a White majority population. Avoiding mixed race relationships and a refusal to contemplate a non-white future and following the racial loyalty motto of the "14 Words" is the way we shall avoid descending into the multi-racialist future.

If White British men only have relationships with White Aryan women and White British women only have children to White Aryan men the creeping destruction of our race and nation can be halted. Those weak or deluded individuals who take partners and breed with non-whites have betrayed their race and nation.

They have turned their backs on their history and heritage, they have betrayed their White ancestry.

British menfolk must become the 'Fathers of the Nation' not only breeding White children but raising them to be true to their racial roots.

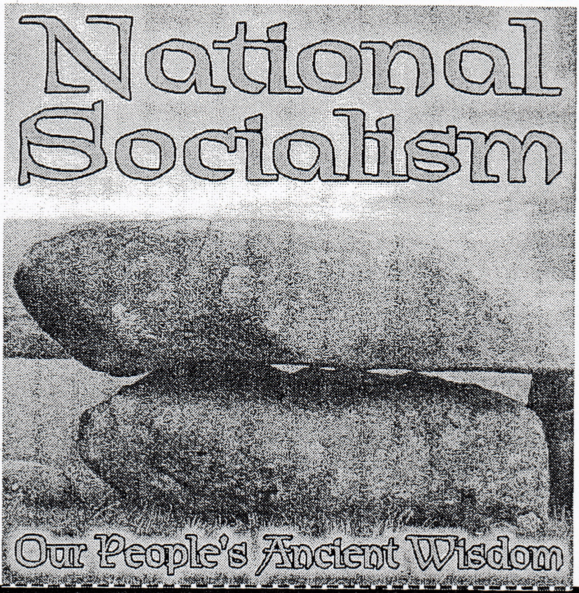
In the face of all the race-mixing propaganda that is thrust at the younger members of society a father must instill a sense of discipline and racial pride in his children.

British women must be the 'Mothers of the Nation' and they alone will give birth to our future generations and raise them to be proud of their White heritage and ancestry.

After all, every grandparent wants grandchildren that look like them and carry a family resemblance, not some mud-coloured, wire haired offspring that looks like every other mixed race (half-caste) child with a permanent injection of non-white blood which will change every future generation.

British Menfolk are the Fathers of the Nation

British Women are the Mothers of the Nation



Our Readers Say....

On Monday evening I watched a 'Panorama' TV programme, it was entitled 'How We Lost Count' and was a documentary about the impact of mass immigration on the town of Slough in Berkshire. As this was a broadcast by the BBC, the programme was of course biased with the usual propaganda about the 'benefits' of diversity and nulti-culturalism, and how our economy would collapse without cheap immigrant labour etc. etc.

Nevertheless, the programme did highlight the severe strains the arrival of large numbers of immigrants is placing on the NHS, the schools, housing and social services. Also crime levels were rising, which local people were blaming mainly on the large numbers of Roma gypsies. Overcrowding in rented accomodation was shown to be causing hygiene and health problems as well as the bad sanitation habits of recent arrivals.

No amount of rehearsed left-wing enthusiasm could hide the reality of the social problems and hopefully some white British viewers would see through the blatant propaganda and take on board the message that the Government's 'Open Door' immigration policy is destroying our national identity and is a real threat to the long term future of the White British in their own land.

If only a few more of our white bretheren are woken up and radicalised by such programmes, it will surely benefit our Movement.

A further serious concern for the future, in my view, is the increasing number of foreign investments in British firms and companies. As a result alien financial interests are rapidly taking control of large parts of the British economy and can manipulate them to serve overseas interests not British interests.

Dear Broadsword,

It is interesting to note that an arrogant Israeli academic raged at Europe recently. He boasted that Israel has weapons of mass destruction, and said that if they (Israel) go down, they won't go down alone. Don't treat his words as empty boasting. This is the people who gave us Masada, and who hold their Purim feast every year since about 2500 years ago to celebrate their slaughter of Haman, his 10 sons and 85,000 other critics of the Jews. The Israeli academic claimed that Israel's nuclear 'Jericho' rockets and jets are capable of reaching "Rome and Central Europe" So are we nearing the end of the world ?

Racial Patriot . Glasgow.

Dear Broadsword

I was sitting in a fast-food shop in Sauchiehall Street, Glasgow, right by the big window which gave me a full view of the street outside. In the street there was a rubbish skip filled with broken pallets. Two young Asian men were walking past. Suddenly they were assaulted by five other Asians. One of the young men ran away in fear, but the other was knocked to the ground. One of the attackers seised a peice of pallet out of the skip with a heavy block of hard wood screwed on it. He began to batter the young man on the ground with hammer blows to his back, arm and head. Another of the Asians got a whole pallet and lifted it above his head, then smashed it down with all his force on the prone man on the ground. As suddenly as it began, the assault ceased, and the young Asian assailants ran off along Sauchiehall Street towards Hope Street.

The police came and, having finished my snack, I went outside and told the Police Sergeant what I had witnessed. I had seen the Asians disappearing over the summit of Sauchihall Street and said he could easily catch them.

He merely said, "Oh were they Asians?". And that was that! He made no attempt to apprehend them.

What's happening here? Have police officers been warned by their superiors to lay off ethnic minorities in case they get a bad press? (Institutional racism you know!) How do the police expect to keep the loyalty of us Brits when they so manifestly practice racial discrimination against us? It can't be argued that they don't show favour to poor ethnic minorities just like the bleeding heart liberals and the left. Is there one law for ethnic minorities and another for us White working-class Brits? Is it a sin to be White in Britain today like our fathers and mothers and our forebears?

An acquaintance of mine had parked his car at the corner, when a young Asian reversed a car and bumped into my friends parked car. He asked for the Asian's name, address and insurance details. The young Asian said it was his father's car and he would fetch him from the temple. When his father came, a police car had stopped. The father said to my friend "You don't trust me because I'm black" (Notice the guilt peddling on the Asian father's part) The father was covering up for his son because the son had no driving licence and no insurance. The police said it was a civil affair, but it is a criminal offence to drive without a licence and to have no insurance. So, we see that the police were no more worthy of our trust than the Asian. Why did the cops not charge him and his son? It can only be that their senior officers have told them to lay off ethnic minorities. It is manifestly true to say our government have played the race card, and the middle-class liberal left are too stupid to see it. Our land has been flooded with droves of hostile aliens, cheap labour is one reason, but it could be that sinister conspiratorial types want mobs of aliens let loose on the streets as a battering ram in a future revolutionary situation. Some five and a half million are employed in the public sector of the British economy. It is taxes that keep them in work but the bill is too high, so lots will be sacked. They will take to the streets in mass demos, riots will ensue and the Left will cry for revolution.

Its coming! Watch for it!

How Scotland Yard Allowed An Israeli War Criminal To Escape Justice

Conspiracy theories about the power of the Zionist lobby and the hold that Israel holds over Western governments is often denounced by the liberal media and Left-wing writers as “anti-Semitic nonsense”

The truth however is very different, recently released documents have revealed how Scotland Yard stood back and allowed a suspected war criminal to escape arrest and flee Britain. In September 2005 an El Al flight landed at Heathrow from Israel, on board was Israeli Major General Doron Almog who had come to Britain on a speaking tour of pro-Israeli and Zionist organisations. What the Israeli group did not know was that a secret arrest warrant had been issued by a British court under the terms of the Geneva Convention for alleged war crimes committed by units of the Israeli Defence Forces under Doron Almog’s command. The war crimes included attacks on Arab civilians and the mass demolition of Palestinian homes in Gaza in 2002. British courts have the powers to prosecute war criminals arrested under international warrants for crimes committed abroad.

But the Israeli Embassy had been warned by an ‘anonymous’ source about the warrant and a military attache from Israel’s London embassy boarded the plane on arrival and warned General Almog not to leave the plane. Meanwhile Scotland Yard detectives waiting in the Heathrow terminal buildings began to dither about boarding the plane to arrest Almog and contacted senior officers for direction. It seems that although the police had the powers to board the plane and arrest Almog, the police were afraid of starting a gun battle at Heathrow with Almog’s armed bodyguards and the gun carrying Israeli ‘sky-marshals on the plane who would resist the arrest. So General Almog sat on the plane for two hours until it refuelled and flew back to Israel.

Prior to the arrest plan, Scotland Yard had secretly consulted the so-called Communities Tensions Team for advice on how Britain’s Jewish community would react to the arrest of a senior Israeli officer on British soil and more sinisterly the documents speak of police using a “trusted partner” in the Jewish community to help avoid ‘problems’.

Broadsword asks ; What problems? Apart from a gun battle at Heathrow, what were Scotland Yard afraid of? Was this a rare insight into a one-off situation ? Or is this a rare glimpse into the workings of the ‘Hidden Hand’ ? Is this evidence supporting the conspiracy theories? Was this ZOG in action?

Can you imagine the uproar there would be if the word ‘Chav’ was substituted with ‘Niggers’ or ‘Wogs’ or ‘Kikes’ ?

I’m sure that there would be front-page reports in the mass media, questions in parliament and TV debates.

It goes without saying that the card producers and sellers would be prosecuted under the Race laws.

But when it is the White working-class being insulted, not a word is said in our defence. Why is there such hate being stirred up against White Working -class men?

Why does our Government plan to cut our social security payments so as to pay the interest on banking loans?

Why this level of prejudice against the White working-class?

SEGREGATION - NATURE'S LAW

Multi-racialism is Against Natural Law

Nature Segregates the Races
By Race and Colour.

To say that we are not naturally racialists is a nonsense. The law of our eyes identifies different peoples one from another. This is a naturally defined law and one which does not mean that we find each other abhorent, but it does mean that we recognise each other as different. However, Nature in all her superior wisdom, also separated the races by lands and by culture, and trying to force any races together with any but their own is strictly against natural law. With all the superior knowledge that man has, he cannot override the forces of nature. If nature chooses to reduce the numbers of the peoples of certain countries, that She will do so and no man on earth can stop her.

The opposition that is felt within our own country against those who intrude upon our culture from foreign lands is a natural one. It is not one to be ashamed of, neither is it one that can be stopped. No man can govern the life of another, in that no man can prevent another from accepting the thoughts that come into his head. The law of our minds precedes the law of our eyes and both follow their natural course. For any government to endeavour to force any species governed by nature into doing something which is not natural or which is against natural law, they will fail. Every government to a man who wishes to force the indegenous people of this land to accept others from other nations and cultures has already failed.

The war of multiculturalism they endeavour to inflict upon us the British people will never be won. It is already lost and there is absolutely nothing they can do about it ! Whether in five, ten or fifty years, the backlash will come and those who have tried to force these issues are the ones who will suffer. Nature will raise the arms and the fists of the indegenous British people in anger against all those who have sought to destroy them. The blood of their ancestors will rise and they will fight according to nature's insistence.

Not living in the past
But taking the past as an example for the future !

ANOTHER VICTIM OF MULTI-RACIALISM

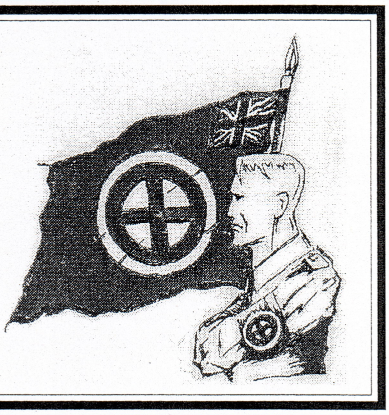
Another White Girl Killed By Her Black 'Boy-friend'

Kate Beagley was a 27 year old blonde haired white girl from Walton-on- Thames. One night in 2007, she went for a night out at the CC Club in central London where she met a black man 27 year old Karl Taylor and blinded by her own sense of racial equality, she agreed to meet him for a date. A few days later she met Karl Taylor at a pub in Richmond Hill. What she did not know was that Taylor had come to meet her with a knife hidden up his sleeve and he planned to rob her and steal her VW Golf car (not the kind of date that Kate Beagley had envisaged). Taylor had stabbed the young woman more than 30 times and had hidden her body in the boot of her own car before dumping her naked body in Oxhey Wood, North London. Showing no remorse for his brutal killing of a beautiful young white woman, Taylor showed off the car to his friends and sold Kate's mobile phone to one of them. Taylor was jailed for 30 years for his crime. Kate Beagley would not have died if she had not chosen to date a man from another race.

BUILDING AN N.S. FUTURE

THE SPIRIT OF THE PAST MUST BE THE GUIDING FORCE THAT INSPIRES THE MODERN NATIONAL SOCIALIST MOVEMENT

THIS DOES NOT MEAN THAT WE SHOULD LIVE IN THE PAST AND WALLOW IN NOSTALGIA FOR FORMER GLORIES BUT USE THE PAST AS AN EXAMPLE OF SACRIFICE, LOYALTY, SERVICE AND DEDICATION TO THE GREAT CAUSE.



Opponents of National Socialism on the so-called 'Radical-Right' wing of British politics often make the ill-informed statement that National Socialism is out-dated, a spent force of the past, or even 'nostalgia politics'. Nothing could be further from the truth - National Socialism is not only alive and kicking but interest in National Socialism is a fact of the modern entertainment industry.

Consider this: On just one day - December 20th 2007 the British TV networks carried the following options : - Sky TV carried a series of documentaries about the history of National Socialist Germany and personalities of the Third Reich across the day. Channel 4 had an hour long documentary on the relationship between Adolf Hitler and the British upper-class N.S. activist Unity Mitford, including a great deal of footage on Sir Oswald Mosley and the British Union of Fascists.

If the interest was not there, these programmes would not be produced or screened so frequently. Seventy years after these events took place, there is still a deep fascination in Britain for the whole subject area of the Third Reich, Adolf Hitler and National Socialism.

This interest and fascination can and must be mobilised into an interest in amd support for modern National Socialism, because 'This Flame Still Burns !'

Those people who think that National Socialism is a force from the past are very short on political understanding and imagination .

National Socialism is a living force, and like all living things it develops and evolves with the passing of time. Modern British National Socialism reflects the political dynamics of the modern British experience, it reflects the wants and needs of the British people at a time when mass immigration, consumerism and the erosion of the traditional British way of life has left the white British population isolated and searching for direction and a sense of national identity.

National Socialism has the power to restore the lost sense of national pride, has the power to challenge and overturn the 'false gods' of capitalist commercialism and consumerism; has the will to fight against multi-culturalism and the Government imposed multi-racial society and forced integration and diversity.

We can build a National Socialist future for Britain if we can effectively present the alternative lifestyle to the White British. The way forward is to show our people that they do not have to accept the life style that the System forces on them and they can live a different kind of life with a different set of values and attitude to life and our cause.

The kind of dedication needed in the building of a National Socialist movement is best illustrated by a example from the past, in this case the late 1930's.

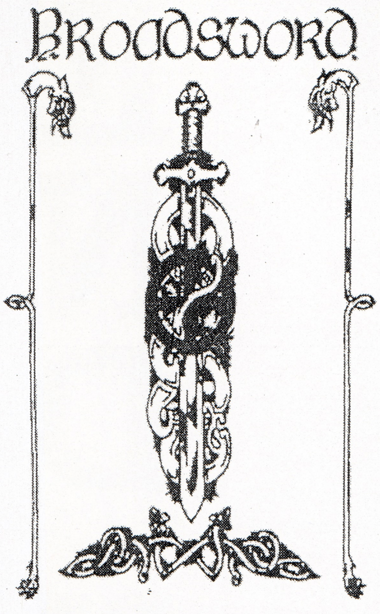
William Joyce: - writing of the spirit of sacrifice and dedication in the pre 1939 National Socialist League, "We in the League lived National Socialism. As a small band, we were united in the struggle; and we were all poor enough to know the horrors of freedom in democracy. One of our members was driven mad by 18 months of unemployment and starvation. We did what we could to help him but I am afraid it was little enough. I lived for months with real friends who loved England and could not get enough to eat from her. Unemployed members who had only two shillings a day came 12 miles by train to attend street corner meetings, or to undertake office duties, spent the surviving pennies on food, and walked home into the small hours of the morning in Winter weather. These unknown men were great patriots. They all had the hope that out of their sacrifices a greater England would be born".

Times have changed since the 1930's, it could be argued that the British have become soft and spoiled by the modern world, its mass consumerisn and mass media entertainments. Now that there is no starvation, no mass unemployment on the scale of the 1930's, or the scale of want and poverty of that era, it could be argued that the modern British have lost the courage, determination and spirit of sacrifice for a greater cause.

Perhaps, or perhaps not - there can be no denying that the 'Flame Still Burns' and perhaps the spirit and determination can be rekindled into a raging fire again.

A British Movement Supporter writes: - It is becoming increasingly important for our Movement to build up its resources, to become the Vanguard of the National Revolution .

LETTERS to the EDITOR



Dear Broadsword,

I found the new 'Broadsword' interesting, especially the Werwolf Column about teenage BM activists. As I am a teenager I understand the problems of proving to people my age that National Socialism is right. As you state in the article, the media bombards us with multi-racial bullt every minute of everyday. I personally believe that one way to help with the problem is to get current teenage supporters to investigate those around them and find out who are the ones who care about this country. Then people like me can introduce them to others and educate them in the ideals of National Socialism. Using these methods I have managed to discover that two of my friends at college agree with me and I have shown them Broadsword magazine.

It can be hazardous trying to find other patriots in college and I have already been spolen to by the head of college on these matters. I have been careful to speak only to those who I know at least share some of my views , but we must have been overheard talking and it was reported to college staff. I will be much more careful in future. Despite this, within a week I had unearthed some potential supporters, so the methods do work.

Please send some BM introductory literature to pass around these people.

Dear Broadsword,

I was interested to see that you are advertising a CD of Colin Jordan's 1971 election speech at a meeting in Wolverhampton. I was particularly pleased because I attended the meeting in question and recall that it was an inspiring speech at the time and a great occasion. Thus I recommend the CD to all BM members and supporters!

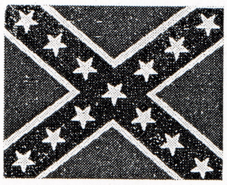
OBITUARY

'CHARLIE TANK'

Died in Kent -January 2008 - Age 73

A great patriot and defender of our just cause.



Dear Broadsword,

I hope that this letter reaches you in time for inclusion in your next issue, because this is a current topic and needs printing before the trial goes cold. We are often told by the media that White nationalists and National Socialists are paranoid about Jewish conspiracies and that the existence of ZOG is a wild fantasy.

But think about this - this week British government documents have leaked out under the Freedom of Information Act which show how the Blair Government and Foreign Office secretly doctored the Iraq Weapons (dodgy dossier) to remove all mention of Israel and Israeli nuclear weapons. Official instructions were given to delete all references to Israel and any criticism of Israel in those Foreign Office reports, and not to harm relations with Israel. Why not ? Who are the real masters in Whitehall? Conspiracy or facts? ' The Truth At Last?' A.S.L.

Dear Broadsword

Many thanks for Issue 33 of the Broadsword. This excellent publication is developing intoa journal of the highest quality and it deserves to be cir culated far and wide. It should be at the top of the reading list of all true racial nationalists.

I fully endorse the content of the articles "Broadsword's Campaign" and "Building an N.S. Future". Both outline in clear and uneqivocal terms what we are fighting for, our fundamental principles and the reason that the British Movement exists.

The "Werwolf Column" entitled "We Must Appeal to Youth!" raises the question which is crucial to our future. Every member and supporter needs to give serious consideration to this problem. The article "To Have or To Be?" is particularly topical and relevant at this time when the financial markets are in turmoil.

I believe that the foundations of global capitalism have been seriously undermined. Thus cracks are appearing throughout the world economy and we have seen the Bank of England, The Government, Northern Rock and a lot of the other financial establishments in a state of panic. They are desperately trying to paper over the cracks and shore up the crumbling walls. However, I am sure that these will only prove to be short term remedies. The world economy is entering storm seas.

This can be our great opportunity, we must prepare to grasp it.

Meanwhile, as world events unfold, I remain totally convinced that the tide is flowing rapidly in our direction. It is clear as each day passes that Adolf Hitler was right and that National Socialism is the only solution for our Race and Nation.

Thus it is imperative that our Movement prepares to seize the opportunity that will surely arise in the near future. Then the future will really be with us and we will fulfil our destiny!

Keep up the good work!

Best N.S. Regards

Students storm Oxford Union debate before Irving and Griffin speak

If anyone wanted an insight into what a national newspaper would be like if Britain went completely Marxist should look no further than the above example. The editorial team at the Independent gave up any pretence at being a rational and even handed reporter of news and public opinion in turning over their front page and inside pages 2 and 3 over to two highly excitable young writers who are obviously openly anti-racist/anti-fascist with an exaggerated view of the events outside the Oxford Union when BNP Chairman Nick Griffin and historian David Irving attended the Oxford Union debate on freedom of speech.

IN MEMORIAM

JOHN COOK

22/11/1937 - 10/12/2007

John Cook was an active racial Nationalist in East London and Essex in the 1960's and 1970's. He was an active supporter of Colin Jordan and a member of the NSM, later he was in the original BNP and then in the National Front. In the NF he was the local organiser for East London and West Essex, and for a time was a member of the NF National Directorate. John was well known to BM members and supporters in those areas during those years. He always welcomed BM members at NF meetings and functions. When the NF fragmented in the 1980's John dropped out of organised groups, but remained in contact with individual racial Nationalist activists, and remained an ideologically committed National Socialist till his death.

We salute a fallen comrade.
